The prospects are excellent for a good summer resort business in Vermont this summer, and if the signs are read correctly Vermont will see a considerable increase in her income from that source.

It is gratifying news to the friends of the license, local option law in this city that an effort is being made here to enforce the law. Nothing will help to enforce the law more securely than a rigid enforcement of it.

The amount of granite shipped from Quincy, Mass., in April, as given out by the railroads there, was 13,708,788 pounds. The railroads in Barre do not give out the amounts shipped from month to month, but a quarry owner who knows the hill and quarrying thoroughly, figuring on the number of men at work there, finds that Barre shipped 32,000,000 pounds of monumental stock in April. Paving or wall stone is not included in these figures.

After two weeks with the open saloon in its city the St. Albans Messenger is inclined to the belief that the results are better than they were under the old prohibitory law. It says that there was a flurry at the opening of the saloons, a little excitement due to the open sale of liquor after it had been sold surreptitiously for so many years previously, but the Messenger believes that the conditions will settle themselves. It concludes by saying, "So far, then, the trade appears to have been conducted with effects no worse in any respect than they were under prohibition, and in many features decidedly better. The public will now soon accustom itself to the new conditions and the responsibility for the most part will rest with the liquor sellers so far as compliance with the law is concerned. The Messenger would impress upon them the fact that, after a long and hard struggle, it has been made possible for them to do a legitimate business in a respectable manner and it all now rests with them whether they shall do it in that way. If they do not, if they fail to keep the law, they will not only abuse the confidence of the pub-

"I see that you are not an automobilist."—Chicago Post.

The Why and Wherefore.
They say that man was made to mourn,
Life's charms and pleasures scoring.
You ask, "Then, why was woman born?"
To superintend man's mourning.

He that made their opportunity for them, but they will certainly create a strong public opinion against the law and defeat their own interests as well as those of the state. Public opinion in St. Albans is going to insist that the law be strictly obeyed. There is no longer the old excuse for the liquor dealer that the law is a dead letter and that the public at heart is content to let him sell for his own accommodation."

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

The Rutland City band will go to Keene, N. H., July 4 to take part in the observance of the 150th anniversary of the incorporation of the town. The band will also go to Saratoga, N. Y., July 8 and 9 to furnish music at the annual national convention of Mystic Shriners.

Humane Officer W. W. Tower of Rutland, went to Shrewsbury Friday to investigate a case of alleged cruelty to children in the family of Llewellyn Johnson of that town. Mr. Tower found the family almost without food and took measures to have them taken care of.

L. G. Whitford of Vergennes, has recently had a barn on his farm in Addison repaired that was built about 1700. In taking up the floor he found pine plank boards, which are also of pine, measured from 14 to 22 inches wide. Each board was held by two wrought nails. The boards were originally one inch thick but have been worn down to half an inch. With the exception of two sills, which were put in about 90 years ago by Truman Carpenter of this city, no repairs have been made on the frames until recently.

Paving Too Cheap

After seeing experts making paving out of Barre granite, we concluded it was about as pretty a stone to handle as any we ever saw. However, because it has been comparatively easy to work, those who have it and who have made a specialty of the paving business, are too easy. The idea of having stone operators getting profits down to $5.00 or $10.00 a car. It's folly. And only getting $65.00 a car, delivered, putting $3,000 pounds in a car.

Take $18.00 per M. add $6.60 for freight, from Barre quarries to Barre, or $23.00 freight to central point; $25 for cutting and material and you have $49.00. And when you deliver it for $65 you have the magnificent sum of $15.40 for the stone, the use of tools, grinding tools, fixed expenses on the investment and a number of items which should discourage any man from doing business on that basis. "And yet," said a prominent manufacturer, "I made a quotation of $65.00 not long ago and some other quarrymen wanted to furnish same stuff for $50.00."

There must be need of education in the paving business if they are working along these lines.—Rock Products.

Spring Haberdashery.

It's the details of a man's apparel that gives tone and character to his make-up. Poor or poor fitting Haberdashery, antiquated or obsolete styles of Collar, Shirt, Necktie, etc., does away with the otherwise happy effect of a fine Suit. A stroll through our Men's Furnishing Goods Department shows at a glance the newest, best and brightest in the thousand-and-one things that come under this heading—all at prices that fear no competition in this city. This is a man's store, and the man who comes here to trade goes away contented and happy.
